

SHOOTERS FISHERS and FARMERS Tasmania

Kim SWANSON – Braddon Candidate

Say hello to Kim.

Kim Swanson and her family established and ran a successful winery and restaurant on their farm. With a farming background, having managed a farm and being raised on a large property, Kim understands firsthand the hard work involved in establishing and running a rural business while raising children. Her love for the land led her to the Shooters, Fishers, and Farmers Party, where she aims to represent Braddon in the Tasmanian Parliament. In this role, she intends to advocate for farmers, rural businesses, recreational shooters, fishermen, and improved rural healthcare and job opportunities in the Braddon Electorate. Kim seeks to represent Tasmanians grappling with everyday challenges and government overreach. She is a tough but fair negotiator who will push for better outcomes on local issues and advocate for additional funding for the area. A vote for Kim is a vote for more job opportunities in the North West, improved access to colleges, TAFEs, and universities for young North West students, enhanced healthcare access and funding for the Braddon Electorate, and the decentralization of some government departments to Devonport, Burnie, Wynyard, and the wider Circular Head area.
